State Senator.
G. D. Yancey, of Wayne, was nominated at the Democratic Senatorial Convention held last Monday at Piedmont, for the position above named. We have but time and space this week to say that the choice is a good one, and that Mr. Yancey has both the intellect and vim to make an excellent Senator. The nomination is equivalent to an election by a big majority.

Hon. M. L. Clardy.
As will be seen by the proceedings of the Convention, published in this issue, Mr. Clardy has been renominated for Congress. There is no need of a column of laudatory remarks in this connection, and we don't propose to waste any space that way. When we say that no other choice would have given any sort of satisfaction to our people, we only speak the truth. Iron county will give him the biggest vote ever cast for a Democratic nominee to a political office. He is clearly a man of the people, and a faithful public servant.

The Southeast Missouri Teachers' Association.

Ed. Register.—In compliance with your request for a report of the late session of the Southeast Missouri Teachers' Association, held at De Soto, I furnish you the following brief account:

The organization bearing the above name was instituted at Piedmont some four years ago, and is one of four similar organizations in Missouri. The one for the Southeast contains twenty six counties, and meets yearly. Since the first, it has met at Farmington, Charleston, Cape Girardeau, Salem, and De Soto. Our late De Soto meeting consisted of a three days' session, viz., 15th, 16th and 17th of August. Near one hundred teachers were present, among which were professors from the State University, the Normal Schools of Missouri, Washington University and other St. Louis schools, the State Superintendent, and teachers from the various graded public schools of the Southeast. The session was an unusually pleasant and profitable one. Space will scarcely admit of a report upon programme, hence we refer to the several days' work in a general way.

Organization was effected Tuesday, at the City Hall, where the afternoon and evening sessions were held. Wednesday's session was held in Crystal City, to where the teachers and a large number of the good people of De Soto were carried by special train. The very gentlemanly Superintendent of the works at Crystal City, Mr. J. F. Neal, tendered the Association a free excursion and return over his road; accordingly, at 6:30 o'clock Thursday morning, three cars were filled with eager passengers, all with well filled baskets of good victuals put up by the De Soto ladies. From 7 to 9 o'clock the excursionists viewed the glass works, which are a wonder for extent and magnificence. Superintendent Neal and his assistants spared no pains to show the teachers the various processes of plate-glass making. At 9 o'clock the Association assembled in the Crystal City Hall and pursued the regular programme of the session, and at 5:30 o'clock P. M. returned to De Soto, and held the regular evening session in the City Hall at that place. Thursday's session was attended with the arrival of additional teachers, and so the interest increased to the close—10 o'clock Thursday evening. After the adjournment, the ladies of De Soto served refreshments in the hall, and the sweet tooth of each guest was satisfied with such viands as ice-cream and cake. Here we would say that too much praise can not be given the kind people of De Soto for their generous and free hospitality extended to the members of the Association. The occasion will be long remembered by the schools of Southeast Missouri.

We had been instructed by our County Commissioner, the Ironton School Board and several citizens of the town to invite the Association to hold its next meeting at Ironton. We presented the claims of Ironton, and secured a favorable vote, by a majority of one; but a member from the north was induced to change his vote, and upon the second count we lost it. The teachers of the Southeast co-operated with me in the effort to secure it for Ironton, but Washington, Franklin county, was the successful competitor. Very respectfully, F. C. MILLER.

A WALK OVER.

The Tenth District Democrats Hold Their Convention and Renominate Hon. M. L. Clardy by Acclamation.

A New Congressional Committee Appointed and Organized.

The Tenth Congressional District Convention assembled at noon Thursday in Gillie's Hall, at Carondelet. A meeting of the Congressional Committee was held about an hour before the Convention assembled.

Mr. W. F. Cox, of Ste. Genevieve called the Convention to order, and Judge J. W. Emerson, of Iron, was named Temporary Chairman, and A. J. P. Helmreich, of the Fifth Ward, St. Louis, Temporary Secretary. On taking the chair, Judge Emerson made the following remarks:

THE CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS.
GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION.—It would be ungrateful in me to refrain from expressing a great degree of gratification and my high appreciation of the honor you have conferred upon me by electing me President. I return you my thanks and pledge you my fidelity.

As harmony is the beauty of all institutions and is usually characteristic of Democratic conventions. I trust, and feel sure, that our counsels here will not only be harmonious, but so wise and such a judicious choice as to eventuate in the greatest good and highest honor to the great country of which we are common citizens, and to the great party whose delegates and servants we are.

There is a constituency watching us to-day, representing more varied interests, mightier and grander resources than any other in the American republic. I speak it in sober earnest and challenge criticism.

Our Tenth is the great representative district of our Commonwealth. Within its limits we find most largely centered the great zinc, iron and steel manufacturing industries of this, the metropolis of the Mississippi valley, which industries—yet in their infancy—are destined to expand into proportions which will leave them without any rival on this continent, if not in the world.

The zinc, lead, nickel, cobalt, and copper mines of Jefferson, Washington, St. Francois and Madison counties in variety and extent rival, if they do not exceed, those of any other equal extent of territory on the globe.

The mountains of Iron of Madison, St. Francois and Iron counties, peerless in their colossal proportions and towering grandeur, will furnish material for thousands of furnaces and factories, and the employment of tens of thousands of laborers and skilled artisans, until the district will become a literal hive of the industries, and the central workshop for the hundreds of millions of intelligent men who are to make of this mighty Mississippi valley the granary and garden of the continent.

Then, too, the granite mountains of St. Francois and Iron counties will be wrought by thousands of busy men, and furnish polished and imperishable material for the temples yet to be, and obelisks on which to record the achievements of a civilization worthy our country.

All this, with agricultural resources respectable, if not great, mark our district now and prospectively as the most important in our country.

But now, my friends, shall we sit down and glory over our patrimony—content ourselves with the contemplation of our undeveloped resources—or shall we seek to rise above the level of the politician to that of the statesman, and seek that policy best calculated to develop and expand?

Our resources are dormant without transportation. And while our railroads are our grand aid, we should remember that our district is watered for 150 miles by the ceaseless tide of our great river, on whose bosom, after all, is to float proudly and untaxed to the sea the commerce of the Mississippi valley empire!

How can its commerce float untaxed to the sea unless this great highway is steadily, persistently and intelligently improved, and improved by adequate appropriations by the general Government—a continuation and an increase of such as our present Congress has so nobly fought for and was so largely instrumental in obtaining? All honor to Hon. Martin L. Clardy for the good work done.

May it continue.

Then, too, if we would encourage and foster the industries which are to develop our resources and make us great and strong, encourage enterprise, and protect labor and capital alike, we must avoid the twin heresies of free-trade on the one hand and an excessive high protective tariff on the other, and pursue a policy of statesmanship—the golden mean—which will secure to the laboring man and the mechanics steady employment and hence will insure to the consumer and the business men and the country the highest degree of prosperity.

In such vast interests before us to be guarded and promoted, let us seek our nomination to-day a fit and worthy agent—may I say a friend—to represent us in the Congress of the nation, one as capable of representing the Republican venality and extravagance as of advocating Democratic economy with liberality.

CREDENTIALS.
A motion was made to appoint a Committee on Credentials, and the motion was carried. Mr. W. R. Edgar, of Iron, having raised the point that it was an improper question.

Mrs. Jasper Burks, of St. Francois, thought the Chairman should appoint a Committee on Credentials.

A motion to that effect was made by another delegate, it was claimed, but amidst the debate it was lost.

Mr. P. J. Pauly, of St. Louis, offered an amendment to the effect that the delegates hand in their credentials to the Chairman.

The amendment was lost and the original motion was adopted.

The Chairman then appointed the following Committee on Credentials: W. R. Edgar, of Iron; W. D. Walker, of St. Francois; Elvis Harrison, of Reynolds; Edward Robb, of Perry; Alois Helmbach, of the Seventh Ward, St. Louis; Theo. Keller, of the Twenty-second Ward, John Gutting, of the Twenty-fourth Ward, J. H. Deenhardt, of the Twenty-fifth Ward, George Stellars.

ST. FRANCOIS.—John T. O'Rannon, Zeno B. Clardy, proxy; Alvin Rucker, L. D. Walker, James N. Burks, Wm. Carls, John R. Highby, Z. P. Cole, proxy for A. Parkhurst, and J. W. Brady, proxy for James Highby.

WASHINGTON.—Joseph Chaboussier, P. Johnson, Geo. Loomis, Jas. D. Lowry, R. H. Deering, Theo. Higgins, Edw. L. T. Hall, James Long, H. W. Posten, C. Arnold, Cyrus Dent and Geo. P. Harvey.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.—Central township, Mike Farin and T. M. Merimee township, Alfred Carr, Ed. Wilkinson, proxy for Carr, and Thomas Thomas; Carondelet township, John H. Phipper and Jacob Fuchs; Bonhomme township, John L. Matthews and Zach J. Mitchell.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.
Mr. Zach J. Mitchell then moved that a committee of seven be appointed on permanent organization, carried.

The following Committee was appointed: J. G. Donnell, Dr. Newman, Mr. Rucker, Jas. Long, Ed. Wilkinson, John Gutting and J. H. Deenhardt.

The Committee on Permanent Organization recommended P. J. Pauly, of the Ninth Ward, for Chairman, Theo. D. Fisher, editor of the Farmington Times, for Secretary, and D. M. Hong, Sergeant-at-Arms, and that speeches be limited to five minutes. The report was adopted.

A committee was appointed to escort the permanent Chairman to the stand. Mr. Pauly returned to his seat, and said the Convention was a very important one. The country was at peace and legislation was confined to business of great concern to the nation. He hoped they would select the best man for the nomination, as it was important to the business and mechanical interests of the District. In reviewing the political changes, he said it was necessary for the Democrats to stand firm. He alluded to party desertions to the Union with regret, and said after the war, who had adopted Greenback principles, who favored prohibition, and in Virginia had declared themselves for straight-out republicanism, and had gone back on principle to the Greenback party. He gave his views upon the tariff, declaring that he was not in favor of free trade or of a high tariff, but wanted a just tariff and one which would not be sectional [applause], but which would place every branch of industry on an equal footing.

being in order, Judge James D. Fox, of Madison, arose and said he agreed with the temporary and permanent Chairmen, and was in favor of nominating a man who would represent all the interests of the District. Such a man could not be found, and such a man was Hon. Martin L. Clardy, the favorite candidate of St. Francois county. [Applause.]

He then reviewed Mr. Clardy's Congressional record, and said it had been a most satisfactory one. He said he had seen a man in Congress that he challenged the criticism of opponents. His Democracy was so pure that he was a terror to independent candidates. If there was a time when we needed men of ability in Congress it was now. If all were such men as Martin L. Clardy—upright and honest—the next Congress would enact none but good laws, and the cry would go up from all over the land, "Clardy, Clardy, Clardy."

Mr. Pauly called Mr. L. D. Walker to the chair, and said he had been instructed by the Democrats of the Ninth Ward to support the Hon. Martin L. Clardy. [Applause.] He was also instructed to endorse the nomination, and personally it gave him great pleasure to personally endorse the nomination of Mr. Clardy.

His speech on the River and Harbor Bill did him credit and placed him in the front rank of his party. He said he had seen a man in Congress that he challenged the criticism of opponents. His Democracy was so pure that he was a terror to independent candidates. If there was a time when we needed men of ability in Congress it was now. If all were such men as Martin L. Mr. Zach J. Mitchell said the St. Louis county Democrats wish, object and prayer was for the success of the party, and they wanted to place no obstacle in the way of a nomination. They wished to express, though, their disapproval of the manner of calling the Convention; and by the vote they were about to cast, they did not wish to be understood as confirming the action; but as that was the only call they had, they would support Mr. Clardy being the only candidate, and St. Louis county would sustain. [Applause.] The voice of the majority controlled, and the St. Louis county Democrats would not be wanting when called upon for action.

After speaking his own views and what he considered the national Democratic party's policy regarding tariff matters, Mr. Mitchell said, in substance, that he would support Mr. Clardy, and that he would make it very warm for Greenbackers or bolting Democrats who might take a notion to oppose the nominee of the Convention. Such men would save time by not calling in St. Louis county.

The thrust at independents and disorganizers was received with applause.

The motion of Judge Emerson was then passed, and the Chairman, and the Chairman formally announced the nomination of Hon. Martin L. Clardy.

Messrs. Wm. F. Cox, J. D. Fox, Zach J. Mitchell and A. Helmbach were appointed a committee to inform Mr. Clardy of his nomination.
